as we spread this year over seventy-six pages, we had a sudden awareness of what it really has meant to us. and so we dedicate this whispering pines of 1959 to you, the student body--for knowing you has helped make us what we are and has helped determine what we shall be.

. . . the background music has started, everyone has found his place, and the movie of school life begins to unfold as inevitably as time itself. we recognize with warm memories the actors and actresses for they are we - the students of edneyville, autographed by our thrills, our triumphs, and our tears, each day in our school life becomes another scene and part of the thickening plot - - a plot portraying the molding of character, mind, and ideals.

under the guidance of twenty-two qualified teachers, hundreds and hundreds of elementary children are developing their young minds, bodies, and ideals to cope with their challenging worlds enlarging around them.

the varied up-to-date tools of learning at edneyville include library books, art and craft supplies, dictionaries, encyclopedias, maps for each classroom, projectors and film libraries, materials for public school music and band, equipment for playground and physical education, and varied shop work.

the central library now has a card catalog with three-way references according to the dewey decimal system of classification for each book on the shelves...thanks to the high school assistants working with edneyville's full-time librarian.

...and most important, young edneyville grows up to a greater edneyville and a greater role in life.

. . . commercial

with nine commercial classes taught daily by two commercial teachers, edneyville prepares its students for careers in the business world.

typing isn*t s&o bad, once you get thee hangk of jit.

sales journals, ledgers, expense accounts, check books, profit and loss summaries --they all stack up. bookkeeping daily keeps us keeping books.

shorthand students discover that those little hooks and eyes really do mean something--but what?...

vocational

home economics is one of edneyville's most popular, as well as most practical, courses; not only with the girls who study it but with the boys clustered at the home ec room door, admiring all the clothes and sampling all the foods.

heigh ho and away! the agricultural class is off to the corn field or the apple orchard where study for them is practical application of the diversified occupation of farming.

college preparatory

here the sets are built, the stage is set, the lines are learned. edneyville students are offered two years each of french, geometry, algebra, latin, and one year of physics and chemistry to prepare themselves for the next act in their formal education--their college career.

. . . sports reel

these seniors can look back on four years filled with noise and singing, practice and sweat, exultation and tears...years of warming benches and years of accepting trophies...win or lose, these senior athletic stars have won more than games.

edneyville's cheerleaders are present at every game, faithfully leading the teams to victory and the crowd on the bleachers to laryngitis. they sponsor pre-game pep rallies, decorate the halls with posters, and welcome the opposing teams and cheerleaders.

the monogram club is made up of those who have received a letter "e" for outstanding participation in either football, basketball, baseball, cheerleading, or the management of these sports in the athletic program of edneyville.

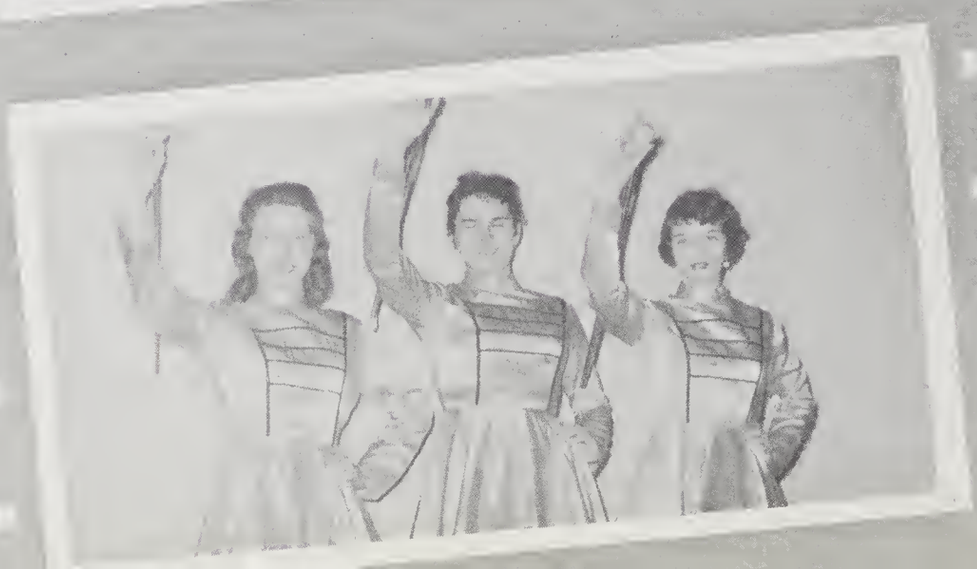
edneyville students look to j. w. mc crary, ellis lyda, and tom pryor as men who point the way to healthy participation in sports, to development of the art of sportsmanship, and to the need of a fourth trophy case.

. . . the plot thickens



the girls' chorus under the capable direction of mrs. burley blend their forty-eight voices to bring music to our set. two radio broadcasts, a concert, two programs for the parent-teacher association, ghostly doings at our halloween carnival, a musicale at christmastime, and traditional music at commencement exercises rank these as top performers.

this picture represents some of the sections of the band and its variety of instruments. two classes under the baton of mr. gillespie practice daily. the school and band aid have purchased the black wool trousers with gold braid to complete the uniform in keeping with school colors--gold tunics with black trousers.

the science club under the direction of mr. rogers has worked hard on projects for the science fairs. it is their aim to have some day a national winner.

THE QUILL

EDNEYVILLE SCHOOL

under the direction of miss elizabeth cody, sponsor, and carroll martin, editor, our quill staff has worked energetically and diligently to inform us of the latest events and school news every month in our own "high school confidential."

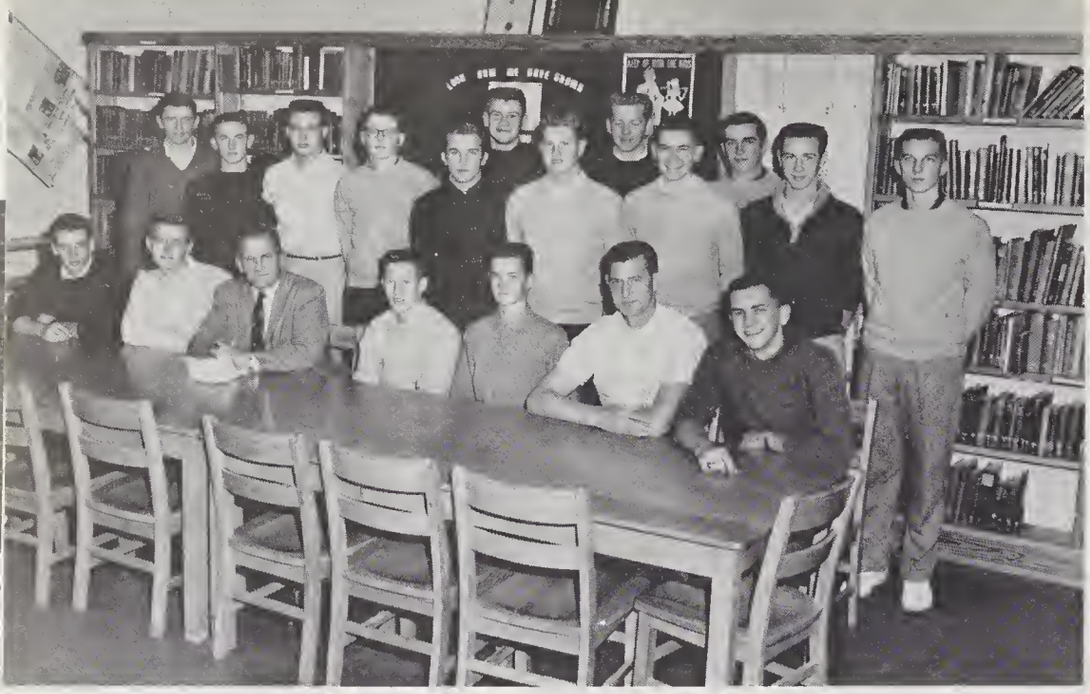
the beta club, national honorary scholastic society, stands as a guiding light in our school. its members are today leaders in school; tomorrow, leaders in community, state, and nation. this year among other activities the club has sent represenatives to the state convention, given a tea for the seniors, and planned recreational activities for the group.

...starring in leadership, scholarship, and science.



the key club, a civic organization composed of boys displaying leadership, initiative, and school spirit, have worked closely with our principal, mr. nesbitt, and mr. mccrary, sponsor, to make our school a better place. they have painted the press box (crow's nest to us), kept the scoreboard in good working condition, and paid half of the expenses of installation of our new public address system.

the future homemakers of america under the direction of mrs. wagoner have tried to live up to their motto "toward new horizons" by promoting appreciation of homemaking, creative leadership, and further interest in home economics.

the future farmers of america under the direction of mr. davis is an organization whose primary aim is to develop agricultural leadership, cooperation, and citizenship. this year our f.f.a. have raised four acres of corn, attended the state fair, and have taken camping trips. our department has its own tractor and equipment.

lavon brigman and hardy freeman--here stand two who, not only in a hula hoop but also in their school, church, and community activities, have been best all-around.

it is the little things they do in such a pleasing manner for the people around them that have made judy robinson and jack pittillo the most courteous.

keeping in touch with and sharing interests in their wide circle of friends help to make joyce freeman and harold garren the most popular.

reflected in this mirror are the poise, charm, and mien--qualities that prove shirley sinclair and david hill to be the best looking.

by popular demand

here we see sylvia burroughs and jan huggins exemplifying one of their many capabilities which entitle them the most likely to succeed.

bowling to basketball and the many sports in between embrance the favorite realm of katie turner and red price as the most athletic.

seeing linda webb and robert shipman wave a hearty "hello" to everyone makes us understand the meaning of friendliest.

carol martin and fred pittillo are having a playful swing so typical of those who are wittiest.

the senior class was happy to elect, because of her scholastic abilities, personal attractiveness, and poise, miss shirley sinclair to be miss hi other things were in style too--diamonds...knees...injuries...and boys!
